

netPolarity Announces Comprehensive Managed Service Provider (MSP) Solution

Turnkey Solution Aimed at Supporting All Staffing Management Services for Small and Mid-Sized Businesses

San Jose, Calif., September 15, 2007—netPolarity, a leader in global workforce procurement solutions, announced the availability of a comprehensive managed service provider (MSP) solution.

Recognizing that many small to mid-sized corporations don't have the resources to support a solid corporate staffing infrastructure, netPolarity has devised a complete solution that encompasses a custom assessment of needs and web-based enterprise technology to automate the entire staffing procurement process from initial candidate sourcing to overseeing the workforce engagement and administration process.

“Leveraging our deep roots as a Silicon Valley startup providing contingent staff to world-renowned technology companies, we have been able to put our technology background to great use, with this MSP solution as the latest example,” said Haixia Zhang, CEO of netPolarity. “We want to ensure that our clients nationwide are able to hire the most talented workers for their needs and can do so with great speed and cost efficiency, without taking the focus off their core business.”

netPolarity's MSP solution can be used as either a turnkey solution or as an extension of existing corporate staffing infrastructure. Built on leading edge technology automation to maximize staffing process efficiency and enterprise business intelligence, key components of the MSP staffing lifecycle management include:

- Sourcing of contingent workers and direct hire employees
- Managing engagements and administering of benefits to contingent workers
- Overseeing payroll and compliance issues for contingent staff
- Undertaking pay review and performance management of contingent staff
- Managing all staffing vendors and consolidating all billings
